

Growing your own food is an excellent way to reduce your grocery bill, ensure the freshness of your food and get some exercise. The Joe Wallace Community Garden at Pleasant Run Presbyterian Church offers eight 8 x 16 foot plots and one smaller 8 x 12 foot plot. Plots are rented yearly, allowing you to make several plantings. They rent for $25 per season for the large plots and $20 for the smaller one. Scholarships are available. These guidelines apply:

1. You may plant any legal plant in your plot as long as it does not infringe on neighboring plots or walkways.
2. You are required to use your own tools safely. They cannot be left on church property. All structures must remain within your plot and be completely removed by December 1st.
3. All weeding, watering, and harvesting are your responsibility. If you need help contact the garden manager. Help is available at a reasonable cost.
4. Children are welcome and encouraged to work within your plot.
5. PRP will provide some water via two barrels located on the side of the building. You may use this water for your plot, but please be considerate and leave some for your neighbor. If the barrels are empty, you must provide your own water. You must not under any circumstances use water from the church's faucets.
6. Use only organically friendly fertilizers and pesticides according to their label. Make sure that they are contained within your own plot. Do not spray in windy conditions. The use of any herbicide requires the approval of the garden manager.

7. Consider sharing your harvest with those in need.

8. All plots must be maintained throughout the season. The Committee reserves the right to cover over any plot in which weeds are going to seed, creating a potential hazard to the garden community.
